INT. MOTEL ROOM

There's [NO BACKGROUND SOUND]

Blue and red lights flash and bounce off the wall next to the window, as MAMMA BEC, an African American woman in her late fifties, recounts recent events.

MAMMA BEC (V.O.)
Why do bad things happen to good people?

A man in a suit sits in a chair facing the wall with his back to us. He's tied up and gagged.

MAMMA BEC (V.O.) (CONT'D)
An even better question is how do we live with it?

The room is old, and dim lit, making the flashing red and blue lights outside even more noticeable.

MAMMA BEC (V.O.) (CONT'D)
Some people say it's a crap shoot. But I disagree.

On the bed, we see an open Bible with highlighted passages.

MAMMA BEC (V.O.) (CONT'D)
I believe we can do all things.

[SOUND] returns

On a mega horn we hear [COME OUT WITH YOUR HANDS UP. FINAL WARNING]

CLOSE ON old TV on a TV stand showing Asian woman speaking at a press conference.

ASIAN WOMAN
It's been 3 months since an explosion destroyed the entire research lab. My..

TV is turned off.

We see a hand placing TV remote next to TV.

On the dingy shag carpet there's beer cans and liquor bottles.
